

ABBOTT LABORATORIES INC.

September 15, 2010

Dan Nagasaki
President/CEO
CCP Group International
Tokyoto Toshimaku Kita
Otsuka 3-12-22, Japan
Via Email: DNagasaki@ccpgoupint.com

Dear Sir,

Settlement Terms Due To CCP Group
As A Result of Breach of License Agreement
Ref. #: 8759-42

In the course of negotiating that the existing Copyrights License Agreement be amended to include the production of a Spanish language of the software of CCP Group medical and pharmaceutical products, the management of Abbott Laboratories approved that an in-house production process should commence. It was the expectation of the management that the necessary negotiations and amendments would have been accomplished before the coding and manufacture of the Spanish language version will be available for distribution. However, this was not the case and our management only decided sample the US markets for acceptance. The Spanish language version (though unauthorized by CCP Group) was never distributed to Mexico or other elsewhere. We have requested and produced the Spanish language very in order to make the products of CCP Group more available to larger US markets because of our Spanish population.

I refer to the response from our CA operations in reaction to the recent report by your Consulting Auditor, a total of 250,000 copies of the Spanish versions was coded and manufactured. However, 200,000 copies have been embedded and distributed with devices. The same unit cost of $12.00 have been used as stated in the existing Copyright License Agreement. The total revenue due to the Spanish version production is $2,400,000.00. After deliberation by telephone conference call with the management of CCP Group, we have proposed a mutual settlement of $1,560,000.00. This represents a 65% of the total revenue realized. On the issue of the infringement cost of $325,720.00, we would urge your management for a re-consideration.

Please be informed that we have directed our CA operations stop further coding and manufacture of the Spanish Language version until an appropriate licensing agreement is endorsed.

We appreciate that this issue be resolved as mutually agreed with you. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Richard W. Ashley
Exec VP, Corporate Development

Cc: Manager, CA Operations